“Thunderheart” (1992) follows Ray Levoi, an FBI agent with Native American roots, as he first arrives on a reservation to investigate a political murder.

The elders call Ray Thunderheart and claim he’s the reincarnation of their hero slain in 1890, when Native Americans seized the South Dakota town of Wounded Knee in protest against U.S. government treatment.

In this culturally diverse context, will Ray live up to his heroic ancestors and expose the culprit? Join the U.S. Embassy-FEAC team to find out & to enjoy a heart-warming session on Native Americans in the U.S. culture!
